LEIF SEGERSTAM
(b. 1944, FINLAND)

Born in Vaasa. He studied violin, piano and conducting as well as composition with Joonas Kokkonen, Nils-Eric Fougstedt and Einar Englund at the Sibelius Academy in Helsinki. His studies continued at the Juilliard School in New York with Jean Morel for conducting, Louis Persinger for violin and Vincent Persichetti and Hall Overton for composition. After further conducting training with Walter Susskind in Aspen, Colorado, his brilliant conducting career began, a career that included posts in Sweden, Germany, Denmark, Austria and his own country as chief conductor of the Finnish Radio Symphony Orchestra and the Helsinki Philharmonic Orchestra. In addition, he is also a professor of conducting at the Sibelius Academy. He is easily one of the most prolific composers of modern times with a continually-growing catalogue that already includes 261 Symphonies, 13 Violin Concertos, 8 Cello Concertos, 4 Viola Concertos, 4 Piano Concertos 3 Horn Concertos, and many other concertante works. As these totals change quite regularly, his prodigious output can best be seen by going to the following link:

JOSEF OTTO AF SILLÉN
(1859-1951, SWEDEN)

Born in Stora Frösunda, near Stockholm. While serving as a military officer, he received lessons in musical theory and composition from the violinist Lars Johan Zetterqvist. He then had further studies with Wilhelm Heintze, Johan Lindegren, Andreas Hallen and Ernst Ellberg. Music would not be his vocation as he spent his working life in the insurance industry. However, he composed a considerable amount of music much of which went unperformed.

EDUARD TUBIN
(1905-1982, ESTONIA)

Born in Kallaste, near Tartu. He graduated from the Tartu Higher Music School where Heino Eller and Artur Kapp were his composition teachers. In Budapest, he had further studies with Zoltán Kodály at the Liszt Academy and then served as an orchestral and choral conductor, piano accompanist and composer in Tartu. The Soviet occupation prompted his emigration to Sweden in 1944, and he worked in Stockholm as a restorer of old manuscripts and was active in Estonian exile musical life. In 1961, he became a Swedish citizen and never returned to Estonia. His orchestral output received a total posthumous revival thanks to his conductor compatriot Neeme Järvi and others who followed him, and he is generally considered Estonia's most important composer up to Arvo Pärt.

GEIRR TVEITT
(1908-1981, NORWAY)

Born in Bergen. Encouraged as a teenager to seek a career as a composer by Christian Sinding, he studied composition with Hermann Grabner and Leopold Wenninger at the Leipzig Conservatory, Egon Wellesz in Vienna and Arthur Honegger and Heitor Villa-Lobos in Paris where he also attended the classes of Nadia Boulanger. He made an extensive study of Norwegian folk music and worked as a music writer and critic. He became a recipient of the Norwegian State Salary of Art. He composed operas, ballets, incidental music, orchestral, chamber, instrumental and vocal works. Many of his works were lost in a disastrous fire in 1970, though some were later recovered. His Violin Concerto from 1939 was reconstructed and orchestrated by K. Husby in 2006. However, other works probably lost permanently are: Piano Concertos No. 2 in E-flat, Op. 11 "Hommage à Ravel" (1933) and 6 (1960), Harp Concerto No. 1 and Concerto for String Quartet and Orchestra (1933).
